POWER-GEN Renewable Energy & Fuels Conference and Tradeshow brings together the wind, solar, biomass and alternative fuels, hydro and geothermal sectors for information exchange and networking. This national conference provides the opportunity for leaders in renewables to discuss technical, strategic, regulatory, structural and economic issues.

Renewable energy has the potential to curb global warming, increase energy security and diversify the nation's electricity generating portfolio. 2010 will mark the 7th year as the premier all-renewables conference and exhibition covering the most important trends and issues impacting the industry. POWER-GEN is owned and produced by the PennWell Corporation.
